The terrace house reborn.
Discover how the apartments at Windsor Terrace are reviving a classic lifestyle.

A unique vision.
Hear from architect Ann Lau on the inspiration behind the building.

Welcome to Windsor.
Take a look around and let us show you some of our favourite places.
In any form of art, the fundamental principles of design are essential. Line, tone, composition and contrast all need to exist in perfect harmony. Architecture is no different. In crafting Windsor Terrace, lead architect Ann Lau and her skilled project team at Hayball have applied these fundamentals with style and precision to create a building that embodies the essence of Windsor and offers a truly unique lifestyle experience.

"From the very beginning we have had a very clear picture about what we wanted Windsor Terrace to become," said Lau. "The beautiful heritage façade we had to work with provided a really elegant foundation upon which we could form a thoroughly modern collection of apartments. It was this contrast between old and new that captivated us. It felt so reminiscent of the iconic makeup of the neighbourhood itself."

The apartments themselves have been carefully crafted to not only look spectacular but also feel generous and welcoming. "There's a real sense of home about these residences," says Lau. "They have been designed in such a way that residents can maintain their own private existence and at the same time, open up and embrace the colour and life on the street. It's a thoughtful and considered approach to apartment living that has been tailored to meet the unique lifestyle requirements of the modern Windsor resident."

"The beautiful contrast between the classic and the contemporary is what defines Windsor Terrace. We wanted to take all the iconic aspects of traditional Victorian terrace houses and apply them in a modern apartment context."

168 High Street, Windsor
Architecturally, Windsor Terrace possesses a unique duality, with differing approaches to the design of the High Street and Victoria Street façades. These designs are direct responses to the urban environment in which they find themselves. On High Street, the ground level will boast some boutique retailers to capitalise on the bustling street life. Above them will be four spectacular heritage apartments. From that point the building steps back from the street, ensuring all apartments have a sense of privacy and seclusion.

On Victoria Street, the terrace house inspiration really shines. The quiet laneway fosters a more classic residential atmosphere with elongated vertical lines accentuating the height of the building and visually segmenting it. This allows for individual apartments to feel defined, yet part of an impressive whole. A sense of privacy is achieved through the addition of perforated bronze screen, which captures light and gives the façade a warm glow.

The stunning lobby, accessed from Victoria Street and immediately sets the tone for the style and quality that lies within. The underground car park is also found here, allowing residents to come and go with ease.
A hallmark of Windsor Terrace is its beautiful heritage façade that stands as a proud reminder of the site’s history. However, if you delve beyond the immaculate cornices and arched windows you will find four spectacular residences that epitomise the very finest in contemporary living.

These apartments are distinctly uncommon, with their high ceilings, large living spaces and breathtaking internal courtyards, they effortlessly juxtapose classic design elements with modern levels of quality and style. It is a layered, textual response that creates an environment that is perhaps best described as sophisticated industrialism.

168 High Street, Windsor
All the apartments at Windsor Terrace strike a perfect balance between indoor and outdoor spaces, maximising the impact of the amazing views on offer. Whether you’re looking to entertain or just after a quiet night in, there’s no better place to be.

Your window to the world.
In the kitchens, every detail has been carefully curated to ensure the space is beautiful to look at, but also remarkably functional. Bright white joinery and matt black tapware immediately set a modern tone, while European appliances, whitewash timber flooring and expanses of marble reinforce quality and prestige.

The clean lines and layered textures are continued in the bathrooms, where simplicity and indulgence are paramount. Together these attributes combine to ensure that Windsor Terrace is perceived as the epitome of authentic Windsor living.

In every detail.
Welcome to Windsor.

WindsorTerrace
Eat, drink & be merry.

If you love good food, or even just love photographing it, then you’ve come to the right place. Windsor is alive with the best and most exciting tastes our vibrant, multicultural city has to offer. And the lighting is pretty good too. No flash required.

If you like coffee (and really, who doesn’t?), Journeyman is your new local. Some of the finest beans in Melbourne are regularly created by their supremely talented baristas. They also offer a great selection of food, but believe me when I say you have to try the waffles. Just trust me on that.

Uncommon
60 Chapel Street, Windsor
Uncommon is the epitome of the effortlessly cool, modern Windsor soft. The brainchild of renowned Melbourne chef Matt Kennedy, Uncommon is built on the foundation of finding well, while you’re tasting right. Their menu features an array of delicious dishes using all natural, ethically sourced wholefoods that promote a lifestyle of health, wellbeing and taste.

Saigon Sally
2 Duke Street, Windsor
Sister restaurant of other local institutions Hanoi Hannah and Tokyo Tina, Saigon Sally is the destination for Vietnamese cuisine in Windsor. Chef Adrian Li’s menu promotes family food designed for sharing. So get your friends together, grab a round of delicious Asian cocktails and let the sampling begin.

Hawker Hall — 98 Chapel Street, Windsor
Housed in an amazing, converted horse stable, Hawker Hall serves seriously tasty South East Asian cuisine inspired by the vibrant, bustling hawker markets of Malaysia and Singapore. Bookings aren’t necessary. Just rock up and enjoy.

Hanoi Hannah — 180 High Street, Windsor
Like Saigon Sally, Hanoi Hannah offers classic Vietnamese tastes, but with a focus on street style offerings. Partake of a traditional pho or perhaps some pork belly sliders, it’s all good. And you can even pump yourself up for the week ahead with a Sunday Session DJ set.

Tokyo Tina — 66A Chapel Street, Windsor
The best eats, beats and vibes from the streets of Japan. That’s what Tokyo Tina is all about. Whether you want to enjoy a quick beer and tasty morsels from their snack menu or indulge in a more romantic dinner, this is the place for you. And if you don’t feel like leaving the apartment, they’ll deliver lunch right to your door.

Journeyman — 169 Chapel Street, Windsor
If you like coffee (and really, who doesn’t?), Journeyman is your new local. Some of the finest beans in Melbourne are regularly created by their supremely talented baristas. They also offer a great selection of food, but believe me when I say you have to try the waffles. Just trust me on that.

Scroll Ice Cream — 190 High Street, Windsor
When you’re looking for a sugar hit to satisfy that sweet tooth, Scroll Ice Cream more than fits the bill. Located about 20 waffle cones from Windsor Terrace, Scroll offers up a scrumptious selection of smooth, creaming flavours that are sure to keep you coming back for more.
If there is one thing Chapel Street is renowned for, it’s shopping. Windsor has really come into its own in recent times, becoming a destination for the best independent boutiques, coolest brands and most stylish vintage stores.

OTHER HOT SPOTS

№ 26 Union Heights — 136 Chapel Street, Windsor

Hip hop plays a major role in pop culture and Union Heights is all about celebrating that contribution. They offer up a selection of sweet beats (even on vinyl and tape), cool clothing and a wide range of art supplies for the budding and professional street artist (the legit ones anyway).

№ 27 Colin Chapel — 138 Chapel Street, Windsor

If you thought general stores were only found in the Wild West, you were wrong. Colin Chapel is a throwback to yesteryear where you could trot down the street, grab some groceries, a coffee and something to eat all in the one place. Now that is the definition of convenient living.

№ 28 Plane Clothes — 143 Chapel Street, Windsor

The clue is in the name. Plane clothes is a boutique stocking plain men’s and women’s clothing. Although their designs may be minimal, they are stylish and always on trend. It’s the perfect place to find those classic pieces to round out your wardrobe.

№ 29 Guerrilla Theatre Brand — 143A Chapel Street, Windsor

Guerrilla Theatre Brand is where art and fashion collide. Unlike most stores GTB uses the products they sell as a means to convey their art. It is a bold twist on the traditional but one that arguably makes their brand of street-wear far more intriguing and engaging.

№ 30 Autonomy — 180 Chapel Street, Windsor

Autonomy is defined as an expression of individuality and freedom from conformity. It is the notion of uniqueness that has defined the Autonomy brand since 2003. Their collections of diverse men’s apparel have become highly sought after by those seeking to stand out from the pack.

FEATURE STORY

№ 24

The Windsor Annex

83 Chapel Street, Windsor

A concept store created by renowned Australian brand Elwood. The Windsor Annex is delightfully minimalist in its approach. The highly styled merchandise is delicately arranged on tables and walls in such a way that feels more like a work of art. It is a thoroughly different retail experience, but one that really stands out amongst the bustling Chapel Street landscape.

№ 32

Prahran Market

163 Commercial Road, South Yarra

There’s nowhere quite like the Prahran Market. A vibrant marketplace brimming with all manner of fresh and gourmet food, it has been an icon of the neighbourhood for generations. A melting pot that highlights all the multicultural diversity that exists in our multicultural community, so much for the atmosphere as the produce.
Let’s face it, Windsor really is the new black. Bristling with venues that can feed your soul, Windsor’s vibrant social scene is at the top of everyone’s Broadsheet bucket list. From its eclectic art, to its exclusive bars, it has become a true destination in Melbourne.

Let us entertain you.

A state of wellbeing.

Staying fit and healthy is a vital part of every day life. Whether you like to start your day off with a morning jog through the park, or end a busy day with a relaxing hot yoga class, Windsor really does cater to all your fitness needs.

No. 44 Chris Gahan Reserve — Hornby Street, Windsor
Hidden away in the back streets, the Chris Gahan Reserve is a picturesque pocket of nature in the midst of the urban jungle. Although it may not be the biggest park in the world, its flat, grassy expanses are perfect for a little amateur footy or cricket.

No. 46 Breathing Space Yoga — 207 Chapel Street, Prahran
Align your mind, body and spirit with a some yoga. Perfect for beginners to advanced practitioners, Breathing Space Yoga offers expertly led classes that will leave you with a long lasting sense of satisfaction.

No. 47 East West Hot Yoga — 105B Chapel Street, Windsor
Doing yoga can be hard enough (doing it well anyway), but doing it in a hot room is a whole new challenge. At East West Hot Yoga you can bring a touch of Eastern wisdom to your Western life while sweating out the stress of the day.

No. 48 Goodlife Health Club — 1/286 Chapel Street, Prahran
There’s nothing like breaking a sweat to get you invigorated for the day ahead. As a member of the Goodlife Health Club you can sneak in for a quick boxing session or hit the weights whenever you like, keeping you fighting fit.

No. 43 Victoria Gardens High Street, Windsor
If you’re looking for some tranquility amongst the hustle and bustle of urban life, Victoria Gardens is the ideal spot. Beautifully landscaped with a stunning central fountain, the park is the ideal destination for a morning jog or a little impromptu yoga.

No. 45 Melbourne Bowling Club 138 Union Street, Windsor
Established in 1864, the Melbourne Bowling Club is the oldest bowling club in Australia. You can don the whites and take part in some serious competition or just tickle the rink with a few of your friends. Hit the perfect way to while away a couple of hours on a warm summer night.

With all the amazing places and destinations surrounding Windsor, you could be forgiven for thinking it is actually the centre of the universe. To the north you have the CBD, Arts and Sports Precincts, as well as premium lifestyle suburbs like Prahran and South Yarra. Go west and you’ll find Albert Park Lake, St Kilda and the sandy expanses of the beach. But the best part about all this? It’s all so easily accessible via the amazing public transport network in the area. Trains, trams and buses are all just moments from your door, capable of getting you where you need to be quickly and efficiently.

For the more scholarly among us, Windsor provides great proximity to a host of educational institutions. The Melbourne Polytechnic is just metres away with most other universities easily accessible via public transport. Some of Melbourne’s most well regarded public and private schools are also located nearby.
The Topgan Group possesses more than two decades of development experience. The company established its Melbourne office in 2009 and has completed a diverse range of apartment and luxury townhouse projects.

Topgan have a wealth of experience in residential and mixed use developments, collaborating with some of the industry's most talented and experienced designers, planners and project managers in order to deliver outcomes of the highest quality.

THE ARCHITECT & INTERIOR DESIGNER

Hayball is one of Australia’s largest practices, specialising in architecture, interior design and urban design. Over 30 years Hayball has completed projects ranging from single and multi-residential buildings to schools and universities, commercial developments and urban design for entire suburbs.

As designers, they combine both the detail of human occupation and the substance of civic ideas to produce enduring excellence, from conception to completion.
