Frequently Asked Questions□

Does the Guest Pay the Platform Fees?

When a guest books a property through an online booking platform such as Air Bnb, Booking.com or VRBO, several different fees are involved. These fees are handled separately and affect the Owners payout in different ways. Booking platforms charge a service fee for using their marketplace and payment systems. This fee is deducted before the funds are transferred to us, from the nightly rate meaning it reduces the gross amount received before management commission is calculated. The fee is charged by the platform, not by OC, and the percentage varies between platforms and locations.

Why am I Not Seeing a Peak and Off Peak Rate in the Appraisal ?

Dynamic pricing adjusts the nightly rate automatically based on real-time factors such as demand, seasonality, local events, booking lead time, and occupancy levels.

This approach is more effective than using fixed peak and off-peak pricing because it responds to actual market conditions rather than broad date ranges. With dynamic pricing, rates can increase when demand is high to maximise revenue, and decrease during quieter periods to attract bookings and maintain occupancy.

At OC Short Stays, we also actively monitor and manage pricing manually where needed, allowing us to adjust for local conditions, property performance, or special events to ensure the best balance between occupancy and income.

How Often Can I use My Holiday Home ?

In general, we encourage owners to consider using their home during quieter periods, as this helps maximise revenue opportunities during higher-demand times. However, we completely respect that it is your property, and we want owners to enjoy their homes as well as guests. Please feel free to chat with us about your preferences, and we can work together to plan the most suitable approach.
